Press this button to return to the Main Menu.
1 - Presentation

After selecting HDMI 1 or HDMI 2 from the Main Menu shown on the front page, plug your laptop or other media device into the connection plate located below the monitor. Once your laptop is connected and configured, your presentation will be displayed on the screen.

2 - Watch Television

After selecting Watch Television on the touchscreen, the television tuner will display on the TV Monitor. Select one of the 6 present buttons to go directly to a TV channel.

Laptop Connections

Connect the HDMI cable to your laptop video port.

You can use the volume control on your laptop to adjust the audio level. The audio will be played through the TV monitor speakers.

Laptop Configuration

Configure your laptop to display on the Video port. On newer laptops with Windows 7 or higher, the laptop will automatically detect the connection and display your laptop image. If not, press and hold the Windows button and tap P.

A window will appear on your laptop screen with options for displaying your image.

With laptops that run on Windows XP or older, you may need to press and hold the Function button while pressing one of the function keys.

The Cable TV IR remote can also be used to control the television tuner. Point the IR remote at the television when operating the remote.

Use the number pad to enter a channel directly.

Use the Cursor Pad and Function Buttons to navigate the on screen display.

Most laptops have 3 modes that are cycled through as you press the function + monitor button.
