Dear Crabby,
I’m really excited about Valentine’s Day this year because it’s my first time in a relationship and I want it to be really special. What are some nice things I can do with my significant other to commemorate Valentine’s Day?
Sincerely, Cabot ’15

Dear Cabot ’15,
I personally love Valentine’s Day. It has everything you could possibly want—Julia Roberts, Anne Hathaway (when she’s pretty), Patrick Dempsey, and that guy from the Twilight movies (I think his name is Taylor Swift, or something). It is quite possibly my favorite movie of all time. So why are you telling me about your “significant other?” Why on earth would I care about that? They don’t even like you that much.
Yours, Crabby

Dear Kirkland ’13,
Roses are out and Venus flytraps are in. The Venus flytrap captures its own prey alive and then devours it—it perfectly symbolizes love. It is my favorite flower. If you can’t find Venus flytraps, lilies are nice too.
Yours, Crabby

Dear Crabby,
I want to get my girlfriend some flowers for Valentine’s Day, and I need some advice on what kind to get. I know roses are traditional, but are they too cliché?
Sincerely, Kirkland ’13

Dear Crabby,
I hate Valentine’s Day. It makes people feel terrible when they’re not in a relationship, and for couples it makes it seem like there’s only one day a year when you should make each other feel special. I think this holiday is awful.
Sincerely, Pennypacker ’16

Dear Pennypacker ’16,
Okay.

Valentine’s Day Plans

Leverites! Valentine’s Day is this Thursday. We know that a lot of you are nervously trying to come up with some ideas for that very special day. If you have not thought about it, or are still trying to plan it out, we have prepared an exclusive itinerary, which will make your day very unique.*

1. A snowball thrown at your love’s face will be a good start of the day!
2. Lovely breakfast with Veritaffles and strawberries should satisfy your morning appetites.
3. Attend classes together, even if you take different classes this semester.
4. For lunch, we suggest that you discover your cuisine abilities, and become a cook for an hour or two.
5. A rose or two could be a nice mid-day gift.
6. Walk along the frozen river is definitely worth your time.
7. You want to make your dinner very special. Walk over to Oleana Restaurant, which serves fantastic Mediterranean food in Inman Square.
8. After dinner, the two of you may decide to spend some more time together. Movie could be a good choice. Some titles to consider: Titanic, Romeo and Juliet, Closer, Tristan and Isolde, A Walk To Remember, and Sweet November.
9. We only hope that by the end of Valentine’s Day, your relationship will not end as any of the movies listed above.

*We do not take any responsibility for any damage or loss incurred by following the items and activities on the list.
