Hare Today

- Explore Boston

  We’re pretty confident you had some remarkable summers in different corners of the world. To name just a few, Lev Bunnies traveled to such distant lands as Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Cambodia, Canada, China, France, Italy, Jordan, Lebanon, Lithuania, Malaysia, Morocco, New Zealand, Poland, Russia, Senegal, South Africa, Sweden, Uzbekistan, and Vietnam. Yet after all this adventure, Bunnies rarely visit the city under their very (fluffy) noses the rest of the year. As all Bunnies “study in Boston”, it’s probably a good idea to actually get to know the city! Here are the basics on exploring Boston, or pretending you have:

  Today’s Boston, speckled with Dunkin Donuts and T stops, sits atop hundreds of years of history stretching back to a Puritan colony in 1630. Wandering the city, you may accidentally walk in the footsteps of poet Sylvia Plath, controversial civil rights activist Malcolm X, ghost story champion Edgar Allan Poe, lantern aficionado Paul Revere, infamous gangster James Bulger (the inspiration behind the movie The Departed), or a horror-movie-esque molasses flood that took 21 lives in 1919.

  Boston’s literal red brick road, the Freedom Trail, won’t take you to any wizards, but it will lead you through the quaint cobblestone and brick neighborhood of Beacon Hill, birthplace of the Christmas carol (sorry puritans), as well as downtown to Faneuil Hall, where Sam Adams once gave speeches. These days it looks a little different- it’s a shopping center. For more shopping, see glitzy, eclectic Newbury Street and nearby glossy tower, the Prudential Center, or for the more adventurous, seek treasure in the knick knack shops of Chinatown. Speaking of, Chinatown dim sum is on par with North End cannoli as experience that show you the reason we have taste buds.

Mystery Movie Quote

“Mr.____, what you’ve just said is one of the most insanely idiotic things I have ever heard. At no point in your rambling, incoherent response were you even close to anything that could be considered a rational thought. Everyone in this room is now dumber for having listened to it. I award you no points and may God have mercy on your soul”

Riddle

Create a number using only the digits 4, 4, 3, 3, 2, 2, 1, and 1. It can only be eight digits. And the ones have to be separated by one digit, the twos have to be separated by two digits, the threes have to be separated by three digits, and the fours have to be separated by four digits.

Answer in bottom of event section.
Dear Crabby,

Tough love when you need it most.

Send questions to haretoday@leverett.harvard.edu

Dear Crabby,

I got Quadded last year and I thought it would be okay, but it sucks. I hate walking, and the shuttle system is hard to navigate. I really want to transfer to a river house—like Lev!—but I don’t know what my blockmates will think. What should I do?

Sincerely,
Pfoho ’15

Dear Pfoho ’15,

I understand how you’re feeling—living in the Quad is miserable. Try to get over it.

Yours,
Crabby

Dear Crabby,

It’s only the first week of class, and I’m already swamped with work. I’m taking five upper-level courses, running three clubs, and applying for several fellowships. To top everything off, recruiting started this week. How am I supposed to handle everything?

Sincerely,
Eliot ’13

Dear Eliot ’13,

Wow, that’s so interesting. Have you thought about trying to suck it up? I think that might help.

Yours,
Crabby

Dear Crabby,

Can you recommend a good place to study? Lamont isn’t doing it for me.

Sincerely,
Leverett ’14

Dear Leverett ’14,

I don’t need to study.

Yours,
Crabby
