Reading Period Limericks

This is the last Hare Today issue of 2012, we have finals too. Thank you for your attention, either out of boredom or mild interest. We put this out every week for you, so again, please direct any suggestions, complaints or praise to leverettharetoday@gmail.com. Still waiting on that first email...

Now for the limericks:

Sleepless Susie has so much to do but she's spending her time on the Q "deserves minimum score this whole course was a bore" and forgetting her paper is due

If it seems like a dark time of year have a cup of some holiday cheer: before long you'll be home with the people you've known until you start to wish you were here!

Once again we've reached bleak December and regret choices made in September "a sixth class can be done!" "final project? sounds fun!" shame next year we'll never remember!

Riddle

I have holes in my top and bottom, my left and right, and in the middle. But I still hold water. What am I?

 Lump of coal

Mystery Movie Quote

“And so the lion fell in love with the lamb.”—“What a stupid lamb.”—“What a sick, masochistic lion.”

Last week’s quote: “A lot of you have been hearing the affiliates complaining about a lack of diversity on the news team.”—“What in the hell’s diversity?”—“Well, I could be wrong, but I believe diversity is an old, old wooden ship that was used during the Civil War era.” is from Anchorman.
Lev Interview: Chief

Dear Chief! Actually, why "Chief"?
This is a great story. Actually the right question is "Why Coach?" Coach got her name because she is such a sports fanatic that she wanted to play IM flag football for Leverett (and did for several years). The House Committee Chair (and flag football stalwart) didn't think it would work to yell "Go deep Mrs. Georgi!" so the two of them invented "Coach" to solve this problem. Them the House Committee had a meeting to decide what to call me. They chose "Chief" because it seemed to go with "Coach". Obviously, this has worked!

What are some most memorable (funniest) stories that you recall from your work here?
My personal favorite was the year a group of sophomores walked into their common room in G-Tower and one of them said "Wow, this is so big we could put a hot tub in here!" And they did. We had to remove it of course, because it broke every rule in the book, but we were very impressed with the engineering job they did.

What are the upsides of Leverett?
I have loved Harvard and its residential system since I arrived as a freshman in 1964. For many years before I became a House Master, I had a wonderful time getting to know the physics students. At Leverett, I get to know a much broader cross section of Harvard students, and this is a great privilege. I can also try to push the House system in what I think are the important directions (physics night is an example).

Any downsides?
It is a huge amount of work! Between Mastering, teaching and physics research, I have three jobs that I love, each of which is essentially full time. I balance it as well as I can.

Leverett is the next house in a row to be reconstructed. This is suppose to begin in May/June 2013, and last for a year. How do you think Leverett will change?
McKinlock will work a lot better in many ways after the renovations. We will certainly have to be flexible next year and find new ways of doing some things. But the payoff will be huge. More of this next semester.
